

QUESTIONS

1 . Are we all of the same opinion, or is each mind a world of its own?

Proverbs 21:2; Deuteronomy 12:8-9

2. Were there differences among brethren in the times of the apostles?

1 Corinthians 1:11-12; 2 Corinthians 12:20; Acts 6:1-3

3. Which is the cause of disagreements and problems among us?

James 4:1-3; Galatians 5:14-15

4. Are there some with lack of prudence that cause enmity and disunion?

James 3:1-8; Psalms 55:12-14

5. What is needed to avoid misunderstandings, be all of one same thought, and be united?

Hebrews 13:15-16; 1 Timothy 6:18

6. What can help us work united?

Galatians 6:1-10

7. What advice does Paul give in reference to how to be well among brethren?

1 Corinthians 1:10; Romans 12:9-16

Behold How Good It is to Dwell Together as One

7 November 2009 C.E.

Day 16 of the Eight Month 2013 E.M.

Biblical Reading: Romans 12:9-16

Memorization Text. Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!
(Psalm 133:1 KJV)

COMMENTARY

To congregate and have fellowship as brethren is something wonderful, great, and precious, something that we do not have but for the mercy and love of our God. This is really important, as it represents, in these times, the fellowship of the people of God in that day, when all his people will be united at once, with its king.

It is important to add that it depends of our fellowship among brethren also if we are to be together with the people, as if we do not stand a brother or sister, or we do not partake in the activities and meetings of the brethren, then what makes us think that we will be able in that day? The Lord will come for his people, not for persons with differences that will not be able to get along.

Let us think that the people, the church, is a small example of the gathering of the people of God on that day.